

The AXIOM Aesthetic

Weekly inspiration for the creative mind.

Chinese influences have shaped many of the dishes we've come to see as Thai, but rarely are they honored with the creativity and consideration. Chef 'Pam' was born into the 4th generation family of Traditional Chinese Herbal Medicine producers. Her family origin started right there in this very building 120 years ago. The dispensery has now been carefully restored and curated into a 5 story dining adventure in the heart of Bangkok's Chinatown. Chef 'Pam' uses 5 elements to perfect each dish, salt, acid, spice, texture and maillard reaction, and 5 senses to formulate memory. Harking back to her Thai Chinese roots, her 20-course menu reads like a personal memoir including hand written postcards with each dish.
